TWO DEAD AND MILLIONS DOLLARS LOSS—HUNDREDS ARE HOMELESS BY BLAZE

Vast Columns of Flame Fanned on by Heavy Wind and Fed by Dry Brush Are Driven Over City—With Change of Wind Relief Comes in the Early Evening

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Sept. 17.—Berkeley, seat of the University of California, and widely scattered areas in northern, central and southwestern California, were swept by forest, grass and brush fires today. Abnormal high temperatures and a stiff wind aided the flames in spreading and caused fire departments and fire wardens to call on volunteers to assist them. The University property had a narrow escape.

Two persons are reported dead, hundreds of homes are ruined, millions of dollars worth of property was consumed when the grass fire, which, running out of control because of a heavy north wind, swooped through the Cragmont district this afternoon and swept into the more crowded residential districts.

Two students, unidentified, of the University of California, are known to have fallen through the roof of a burning building. A third person, unidentified, also is believed to have been lost in the residential district near the hills. The conflagration was brought under control this evening.

Hundreds of homes, including those of more than half of the faculty of the University of California, have been destroyed.

Dynamiting has been resorted to in a desperate effort to check the spread of the flames.

At 4:30 vast columns of flame and smoke were seen rising from the entire northern section of the city. The flames were driven northward by a stiff wind. The direction of the wind was one of the factors in the spread of the flames. The flames were driven northward by a stiff wind. The flames were driven northward by a stiff wind.

San Jose Paralyzed.
All the streets of San Jose were paralyzed at once as the fire started and still were out of commission in Berkeley.

Big Cut in Western Freight Rates in the Next Few Days Predicted by Premier Oliver

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 17.—British Columbia and the Pacific coast will be put on an equal freight rate basis with the rest of Canada within the next few days by big cuts in existing rates, Premier John Oliver prophesied in his address to the Association of Canadian Clubs in the Empress hotel today.

"I believe that within a very few days, that without waiting for the judgment of the Canadian freight council on British Columbia's freight appeal, the people of Canada will know that a reduction and equalization of rates has been ordered, putting the Pacific coast on an equality with the rest of Canada," the premier declared.

In spite of high Western freight rates Pacific coast ports were showing remarkable growth now, the premier declared. Within two years, he predicted, British Columbia would have in Vancouver the banner port of Canada. The development of the grain trade out of Vancouver, he asserted, would inevitably make it Canada's largest port.

For press women all over Canada, at the present time, the most attractive trail leads to Vancouver where the triennial convention will be held this week. Only a few actual members of the Canadian Women's press club will be able to attend the meetings or participate in the festivities connected with the convention.

The Edmonton branch of the Canadian Women's press club entertained at luncheon in the Hudson's Bay room and at tea in the press club room, Chas. Block, of the Hudson's Bay company, president of the Toronto branch, presiding at the luncheon. The many of the Edmonton members have already started for Vancouver to attend the triennial convention which takes place next week. The luncheon party was most enjoyable and the members of the club who have already started for Vancouver were held for several days. ## PERSONALS, MEETINGS, CLUB ACTIVITIES, WEDDINGS AND OTHER SOCIAL EVENTS

They're Shorter Only When Tailored

The annual meeting of the Union of Methodist Young People's Societies of Edmonton was held in the Methodist church parlors last Tuesday evening. There was a goodly number present, including most of the leaders of the Methodist Young People's movement.

The club was occupied by the Rev. W. Hollingsworth, president of the Alberta Methodist conference. The minutes of the organization were read and reports given showing a balance on hand for the year 1921.

During the year 1921, Mr. Galloway, secretary of young people's work for Alberta, Dr. Hodge, of Calgary, and Rev. O. Joffe, missionary in West China, addressed some meetings of the association and were warmly received.

At that meeting, Mr. MacGraw gave a short prohibition address, and Rev. Mr. Galloway in his address outlined a new program as adopted by the Young People's Board of the Methodist church.

Plans were made for the coming season's work.

The election of officers for 1922 took place as follows:—

President—Mr. G. G. Mitchell. Secretary—Miss M. H. Hyden. Treasurer—Miss M. H. Hyden.

The first regular meeting of the women will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 18th at 8 o'clock.

Along Come New Styles to Please the Fancy and Revive Interest

Whether women choose the clothes for the purpose of pleasing the eyes of the men or for the purpose of pleasing themselves, it is a fact that the fashion world is always changing.

Long skirts are expected to be the fashion for the coming season. It will be the fashion for the coming season.

When a woman is beginning to lose weight, she should wear clothes that are loose and comfortable.

For Mothers—"FRY'S"

For true nourishment in delicious form FRY'S COCOA is supreme. Make it this way and you will find it most appetizing and digestible. To 3 good teaspoons of Fry's Cocoa add three spoonfuls of sugar, mix well. Then add one half cup of boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add two cups of boiling water and boil very slowly for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Then add milk or cream to taste. This will give you Cocoa at its best.

REMEMBER, NOTHING WILL DO BUT FRY'S

UNITED STATES REPRESENTATIVE
Knox-Burke, Inc., 125 South Michigan Boulevard, Chicago, and Branch, 410 St. and Broadway, New York City.

SIDE LIGHTS

A Montreal clergyman says the Government liquor stores at Valleyfield are simply warehouses where bootleggers load up their automobiles with whisky which they run across the border into the United States. Government control in Quebec is working out about as it does elsewhere. In Vancouver school children are sent to the Government shop and carry away booze by the grip full.

STILL DISCUSSING IT

Premier Ferguson of Ontario is said to have made some entirely new suggestions to Sir Henry Thornton relative to the reduction of the freight rates on Alberta coal. What they may be will be awaited with interest in this province second only to that of the Ontario householder. If there is any way of cutting down the freight tax now is the time to do it. Ontario needs the coal, and Alberta can do with the money.

WERE THEY BLUFFING?

Fr. William announces hopefully that one United States vessel has cleared that port with a cargo of wheat. One boat of course will not make much difference in the amount of grain that can be got out before the lakes freeze. But if one U.S. shipowner finds it profitable to do business under the new regulations there is a chance that more of them will put their ships into the trade when they find that the rules are not to be suspended.

MILITARISTS TAKE CHARGE

King Alfonso of Spain seems to have some talent for politics. He side-stepped a revolution the other day as neatly as a Kansas farmer dives into his cyclone cellar. Things looked rather dark for the holder of the scepter of Spain when the army got tied being laughed at because it could not whip the Moroccans and started in to show that it had a punch left by upsetting the Government. Of course it was not Alfonso that the sore-minded generals were after, but his advisers. But once a revolution gets started distinctions of that kind are usually lost sight of, and there is a clean sweep of authority. There were splendid chances if it came to fighting that Alfonso would be found among the unemployed when the fracas was over. But it did not come to that. Alfonso made a shrewd guess that though the army could not win the Moroccans it was stronger than any opposition that could be brought against it in Spain at a moment's notice, and he promptly proclaimed that he was on the side of the army. Then he kicked out the old Ministry and put the revolutionary Generals in charge, thanking them warmly for their loyalty to himself. That settled matters. The throne is secure, and so also is Alfonso's claim to possession. The insurgents are in power, and the King is the head of the insurgents. The net result is that the military element has established itself in control of Spain as the stellar party not long ago stood power in Greece by corresponding means.

EFFICIENCY IN EVIDENCE

The agonizing despatches relating to the Japanese horror make incidental mention of one relieving feature of the situation. Apparently the Japanese authorities are functioning in the efficient way they have when an emergency has to be dealt with. The Government appropriated 250,000,000 yen to re-build the shattered cities. Troops were immediately thrown into the stricken area to keep order and they made short work of ghosts who were caught, murdering and robbing people. In Tokio forty thousand bodies were cremated during last week, while five hundred thousand injured were treated at the emergency hospitals. These are only glimpses at the official activity, but they show that the public authorities got on the job promptly, took matter in hand, and dealt with the situation in the forceful and summary way that was called for. When the whole story comes to be written other nations may be able to learn from it something useful as to how a Government should meet a crisis.

OKLAHOMA DECLARES WAR

The Governor of Oklahoma has put the whole state under martial law and called out the troops to enforce the edict. The cause is the wide and increasing activity of the Klu Klux Klan. Much has been heard of this mysterious organization in the last few years. It has spread over the south in states pretty generally, is known to exist at many points in northern states, and attempts have been made to introduce it in Canada, apparently without much if any success.

The claim of the promoters of the Klan is that it exists to impose punishment upon criminals whom the law fails to bring to book. The original idea, it is said, was to suppress lawlessness in parts of the country where officials were notoriously corrupt or inefficient, and where in consequence law-abiding people were at the mercy of rogues. In theory at least the organization is comparable to the Vigilance Committees which used to be found in Western towns in the early days, and which cleared the pioneer communities of bad characters by summary use of the bullet, the rope and the stock whip. With this difference: the Vigilantes were private citizens who undertook to enforce law where there was no constituted authority and no official machinery for the purpose; while the Klan operates in fully organized States, whose taxpayers maintain full staffs of officials and police officers to make its ordinances effective.

That distinction is important. The Vigilance Committee was justified, because necessary, under pioneer conditions. The Klan cannot be justified in the unofficial infliction of punishment where the machinery of justice exists. In undertaking to discharge that function it is setting itself up as a self-constituted authority, in substitution of Government and defiance of popular rule. If the law is not properly administered there are constitutional ways to remedy the defect. What cannot be permitted under any system of organized government is that private parties should take matters in their own hands, nominate themselves the custodians of law, and presume to inflict punishment strictly in accord with the provisions of the statutes, it is none the less a crime and an act of rebellion for a private citizen, or a number of such, to take upon themselves the duty of determining guilt and imposing the penalty.

And as invariably occurs in such circumstances, the Klan neither tries its victims with the impartiality of a court nor restricts its punishment to that prescribed by the legislature. In high-sounding theory aside, the Klan in operation is nothing but an organized mob, which hates or murders those against whom it acts without fair trial and without reasonable distinction between the gravity of alleged offences. If the newspaper reports are to be trusted the Klan in practice is neither better nor particularly different than the black hand society, or a Chinese "tong." That any secret organization of the kind could long operate without sinking to that level is almost impossible. Whatever the original purpose, power operating in secrecy always becomes tyrannical. Inevitably the Klan must become, if it is not that already simply an instrument for killing or maltreating whoever incurs the displeasure of its leading spirits.

If Government is to protect the public such organizations cannot be tolerated. The Oklahoma Governor declares that in his state the Klan has taken hundreds of men, and some women, from their homes at night and beaten them mercilessly, while the terror inspired by the organization is so real and so general that the newspapers do not dare to mention the outrages. Obviously if that state is to continue to exist as a civilized community the Klan will have to be put out of business. It is not likely that the Klansmen have done worse in Oklahoma than in other states, or worse than they would do in Canada if the organization were founded here. Oklahoma is leading the way in a fight to re-establish the authority of government, a fight that will have to be made wherever this supplanter of the public authority has gained a foothold.

Canadian law enforcement officials may well take the hint and look into the reports which were current some time ago that branches of the Klan organization were being established in some Ontario cities. If that was done the sooner the ring leaders are rounded up and set to breaking stone in a public institution the better. But the larger moral is that law must be enforced, invariably and impartially. Where that is done the Klan has no excuse or opportunity to organize its branches. Where that is not done law-abiding people are driven to desperation and tempted to countenance anything that promises to bring criminals to punishment. If Oklahoma has enforced its laws offensively in the past it would not have to fight the Klu Klux Klan now, for the organizers of the Klan would have found no atmosphere of public protest against official crookedness or incompotence in which to work.

EUROPE'S GOAT

SEASONS

The south winds blow,
The meadows glow,
The Red-Breast sings of spring,
The ploughman smiles,
The plough flies
The furrow's war'ring wing.

The sweet rains fall,
The forests call,
The brooklets wake from death,
The orchards breathe,
The fields bequeath,
The bees their honeyed breath.

The north winds blow,
The corn fields glow,
The Red-Breast bids farewell,
The reapers sing,
Glad echoes ring
Through golden lane and dell.
The snow descends,
The ploughman sighs,
The brooklets cease to flow,
The orchards lose,
The tall trees moan,
The wintry bluffs now blow.

PATRIOTISM

Our readers are writing most of this editorial. Not long ago we asked them to define patriotism. More than three thousand answers were received. We tried to select those that are representative. Most of them were good enough to print. But our space limitations are small and we were forced to content ourselves with finding a place for the following:
"Patriotism," says J. J. J., "is a man who is born, and grows up, and lives, and loves, and in the future period he will say, 'I love the land where I was born and I revere those traditions of my people that deserve reverence.'"
"Patriotism," says C. H. H., "is a man who realizes that the welfare of the nation is paramount to his own interests and who is willing to sacrifice his own interests for the good of the nation."
"Patriotism," says J. K. K., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says A. D. D., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says G. R. R., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says H. S. S., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says I. T. T., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says L. U. U., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says M. V. V., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says N. W. W., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says O. X. X., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says P. Y. Y., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says Q. Z. Z., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says R. A. A., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says S. B. B., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says T. C. C., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says U. D. D., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says V. E. E., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says W. F. F., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says X. G. G., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says Y. H. H., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says Z. I. I., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says A. J. J., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says B. K. K., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says C. L. L., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says D. M. M., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says E. N. N., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says F. O. O., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says G. P. P., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says H. Q. Q., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."
"Patriotism," says I. R. R., "is a man who is in time of war fights for his country and in time of peace he helps the poor, and in time of need he helps the people in the government and aids by the law those men who lay down for their country."

WHAT ARE YOU DOING WITH YOUR FOOT ON TOP OF THE COAT TABLE?

I'M THINKING!

WELL, THINK FAST!!!

NEW BELL ON THE MAJOR'S ALARM CLOCK

YOU WILL BE UP HERE AFTER AT SEVEN O'CLOCK MORNING AND ESCORT ALONG TO SCHOOL!

HE HAD TWO CAR LINES TO CROSS!

BUT MARTHA, I HEAR—I AM POSITIVE THE LAD CAN LOOK OUT FOR HIS OWN SAFETY—WHY, ENJOY—WHEN I WAS HIS AGE I HAD TO TRAVEL TWELVE MILES TO SCHOOL—OVER A ROAD BESIDE WITH DANGER—ACROSS RACING CARRIAGES—STRENGTH—THROUGH DEEP WOODS—IMPERFECT WITH WILD CATS—MAY I HAD TO SACRIFICE MY LITTLE LUNCH BOX TO STRIKE OFF THE CARBON OF FAMILISHED WOLF!

SCOW, DANCE AMONG—WISH I WOULD TO YOUR SCHOOL!

SURE—MANY A MORNING HE SPENT AT SCHOOL PICKING UP WOLF'S TEETH OUT OF HIS BAG—PAST TEN!

HA—HA—THAT'S BREAKING UP AT SEVEN IN THE MORNING—HE USUALLY COMES OUT OF THE GAS AT HALF PAST TEN!

LOOK BEHIND WOMAN! DON'T GO TELLING ME NO MORE DIRT SWAMPY BACK—AM I CATCHING DISEASES! AM I KNOWING IT AM, CAUSE DAT WAGGON AM GETTING JUST LIKE DE HAVES.

WASH FUNK HAS JUST NOTICED THAT HIS WAGON IS TAKING AFTER HIS HORSE.
